SANDY BENNETT LUBY

Sandy Bennett Luby is a dedicated provider of food for the members of Stewartstown Presbyterian Church. Whether it's a coffee hour, banquet, breakfast, or other food event, this member of the Fellowship Committee can be counted on to help out.

Sandy lives in Stewartstown Station with her husband, John, who is a consultant engineer for James Posey Associates in Baltimore, daughter Angela, 25, a chef at Stoney River Restaurant, and Andrew, 21, who is finishing a program in Golf Turf Management.

Sandy grew up attending a Methodist Church, in the Canton area of Baltimore. She graduated from Patterson High School and attended Essex Community College. Sandy and John met through their families and have been married for 25 years. Besides Canton, Sandy has lived in Middle River and Parkville before moving to Stewartstown in 2003. She has worked in a warehouse, volunteered in schools, and worked one-on-one with a handicapped person for six years before she moved to Stewartstown.

Upon arriving in Stewartstown, Andrew started attending SPC's Youth Ministries after meeting some of our members at Kennard-Dale. He brought his Mom to church and she has been attending since 2005.

Sandy and her family love company. They are frequent hosts to a variety of young adults and often older ones as well. Sandy and John host outdoor movies at their home during the summer. Their annual showing of The Rocky Horror Picture Show is not to be missed!

Sandy is a blessing to our church; in her quiet, unobtrusive way she makes us all feel right at home at SPC with her delicious food and hospitality.

Blanket Sunday

On Sunday, February 7, 2010, we will again have the opportunity to Blanket the World with Love by supporting the Church World Service Blanket Offering. Below is one of their latest news releases which details their work in Haiti. This is just one example of needs that can be met through our contributions to this offering. Envelopes will be available and checks should be made out to PW(Presbyterian Women).

Church World Service's long ties to communities in Haiti have laid the groundwork for an effective response to the 7.0-magnitude earthquake that leveled much of the Haitian capital of Port-au Prince and surrounding communities.

"The fact that our local partners know their neighborhoods and, even as people are displaced, have the connections to locate them allows for (effective) distribution," CWS's Don Tatlock said from Port-au-Prince a week after the devastating Jan. 12 quake.

The initial CWS response included -- and will continue to include -- distribution of food and non-food items, like CWS Hygiene and Baby Care Kits; CWS Blankets; and medical supplies. Later programs will focus on assistance to those with disabilities, building on already-existing CWS work in Haiti, programs for "at-risk" kids, and on food security needs, particularly for those families migrating elsewhere in Haiti.

Soon after the disaster, CWS staff were in Port-au-Prince, assessing needs and helping distribute aid to survivors. Part of a planned ocean shipment of emergency kits was diverted to go by air, to be distributed by CWS partner Christian Center for Integrated Development (SKDE), which manages a small clinic in Port-au-Prince.

Church World Service has worked in Haiti since 1954, when it helped the churches there to found Service Chretien d'Haiti, and provided assistance in the aftermath of Hurricane Hazel. CWS now works with local Haitian partners in the northwest to provide development and agriculture assistance. CWS has also assisted partners as they responded to hurricanes in recent years.

Partner relationships have also been important because of long-standing ties in the neighboring Dominican Republic. Relief items, including CWS Kits and Blankets, that had been pre-positioned for Caribbean disasters in a warehouse in the Dominican capital of Santo Domingo by longtime CWS partner Servicio Social de Iglesias Dominicanas, arrived in Port-au-Prince within days.

It is not known yet how many of those affected by the quake might try to leave Port-au-Prince, but CWS is prepared to assist those who may go to other parts of Haiti.
